

EDUCATIONAL CLUB THRILLED

Remarkable Talks By Famous Speakers High
Light Of Successful Meeting

Miss Marion Weidman was hostess to the Woman's Educational Club Friday for one of the finest programs of its history.

Misses Louise Gamble, Irmingarde Lehmann, students at Landhaven School in Camden, were guest speakers at the afternoon meeting and were a credit to their various colleges and countries.

Miss Gamble, an American, from

Mt. Holyoke College, told of the purpose of the Peace Seminar which is sponsored by the Society of Friends or Quakers. To these Seminars come all the delegates from various parts of the world where they learn to live and play together in perfect harmony. The work is done entirely by the students except for a dietitian and cook for the main part of the meals.

"We wash all the dishes, pots and pans," said she, "but it is surprising how fast you can do this as you learn a German song or listen to religious views of the Hindu." She pointed out that the students from a foreign country cannot work and help himself during the Summer vacation as our students do, as the immigration laws prohibit this. To them the Seminar has been a great help.

FAIR OPENS NEXT TUESDAY

All Sorts of New Attractions And Gadgets
Will Be Seen At Union

Union Fair, memorable event for the late Summer season in Knox County, will get underway next Tuesday, for the 76th exhibition of the North Knox Fair Association, which may set the fastest pace, ever seen in the history of the Association.

Each department is stepped up to the times, and many new features are added to the old favorites, to create a prime mixture in recreational and educational entertainment.

A five-day race meet is scheduled, starting Tuesday, and lasting through Saturday. The motorized starting gate will be on tap again, remembered from last season, as creating the smoothest racing program ever put on at the Union track.

The three-day, and evening program of "round the clock fair" attractions, from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., will open Wednesday, with a whirlwind of events, pulling contests, races, vaudeville, midway, and grand display of fireworks as a finale.

Officials will put on the best pulling card ever seen at the ring, with a specially added event, never before seen at this fair, the six-foot pull for horses the night of Aug. 25, and for oxen, the following night, Thursday. The only other Fair in the State to stage this contest, is Fryeburg, and fans who have seen it, say it is the most exciting one of all. To direct these new events will be Roger Bragdon of Berwick, and Kenneth Lord of Denmark.

Heavy pairs of logging horses from over the State will compete, in events, confined to horse pulling all day and evening Wednesday, and in the horse drawing events Friday. Thursday will be devoted entirely to the drawing of steers and oxen, with the junior "sweeps" and six-foot pull for oxen Thursday night, Friday's contests featuring a mixed program, will have both drawing of oxen and horses, in the heaviest and largest classes, winding up in the afternoon, with grand sweepstakes for both horses and oxen. Entries for all events are coming in from over the State.

An excellent assortment of vaudeville acts, booked with the Al Martin Agency of Boston, gives top place to the Jungle cat act, and contains as well, an aerial act performed 110 feet in the air, a trained dog act, a rib tickling clown act of a man, duck and bicycle.

Dairy Day is set for Wednesday, dairy stock entries to be judged by Leigh Plaisted, herdsman at the University of Maine. Many different breeds will be on exhibit, among them, new ones to Union Fair.

Handicraft of ladies in this area will hold sway in the exhibition hall, with whole farm exhibits, Farm Bureau and Grange displays.

The race program for Tuesday follows:

Event No. 1—Trot, Class 25, two dashes, purse $400.

Event No. 2—Pace, Class 19 conditioned, also eligible, Class 18 horses that have not finished 1st or 2d in their last five dashes in 1948, two dashes, purse $500.

Event No. 3—Trot, Class 20 conditioned, also eligible, Class 19 horses that have not finished 1st or 2d in their last five dashes in 1948, two dashes, purse $500.

Event No. 4—Pace, Class 22 conditioned, also eligible, Class 21 horses that have not finished 1st or 2d in their last five dashes in 1948, two dashes, purse $500.

Event No. 5—Trot, Classified, two dashes, purse $600.

The following corps of race officials is announced: Starter, Roy Harris; announcer, Clayton Smith; presiding judge, Ralph Dane; associate judge, Monty Moore; associate judge, Charles Trewey; patrol judge, Mose Nannigan; patrol judge, Ralph Burrill; paddock judge, L. Superintendent of Schools Robert B. Lunt will tender his resignation tonight as superintendent of the Rockland-Rockport School Union, to accept a similar position in Cape Elizabeth and Scarborough at a substantial increase in salary.

A canvass of the Rockland School Board this morning indicates that Lunt will be released from the three-year contract which was given him last year.

Superintendent in Rockland and Rockport for the past five years, Mr. Lunt has brought to the school system many features which have materially raised the standard of the schools.

City Farm Past Eight Years

City Farm Superintendent Maurice Leonard has tendered his resignation to become effective Sept. 1. He has served as head of the establishment for the past eight years with the exception of a period during which he was in the armed forces during the war.

The financial record of farm operations under his management has been excellent with the terrific tax load of maintaining a city farm, borne by many communities, being lifted in great part by his extensive pig raising program. He plans to operate his farm in Rockville upon leaving the city service.

Mr. and Mrs. William Marston of Rockland are now at the farm, learning its operation with the possibility of taking over when Leonard leaves, according to Director of Public Welfare Joshua N. Southard.

FINE APPEARING CANDIDATES

Republican Nominees In Informal Tour of Knox County—Successful Night Rally

Republican candidates for public office in the September elections make a token tour through Knox County Tuesday and spoke at a public meeting in the Court House at night. In most cases, unopposed for office, the party visited plants along the Rockland waterfront and made calls in Thomaston during the day.

Traveling in the group were Congresswoman Margaret Chase Smith, candidate for the United States Senate; Frederick G. Payne, candidate for Governor; and Mayor Charles P. Nelson of Augusta, candidate for the post in Congress left vacant by Mrs. Smith's anticipated entry into the Senate.

In the absence of State Committee Chairman Alan Bird, the tour was conducted by Sheriff C. Earle Ludwick. In the group at different times throughout the day were candidates for county and State offices from the communities of Knox County. Making the greater part of the tour were Representative Roy Bell, Thomaston; Mrs. Inez Crosby, State committeewoman, Camden; Willard Pease, candidate for Sheriff; State Senatorial candidate Cleveland Sleeper, Rockland; Leroy Ames, Vinalhaven; and Stuart C. Burgess, Rockland, candidates for seats in the Legislature.

Visits were made to the plants of Holmes Packing Company; Modern Pants Company; North Lube Canning Company; Van Baalen-Hellbrun Company and General Seafoods.

The evening session was opened by State Chairman Alan L. Bird, who described the duties of the position which he holds and urged a heavy turnout at the polls on Sept. 13. He commended Sheriff C. Earle Ludwick for his sportsmanship in remaining active in the party campaign following his own unsuccessful campaign in the primaries. He also mentioned the work of E. Stewart Orbeton as County Committee Chairman.

Chairman Bird urged a heavy vote in September, even though there is no rivalry in the county because of the effect it may have on the national elections in November.

Candidates for county offices were called upon to stand and be recognized. In that category came Milton M. Griffin, Rockland, Clerk of Courts; Harry E. Wilbur, Rockland, Judge of Probate; Frank P. Harding, Rockland, County Attorney; Willard Pease, Rockland, sheriff; A. Everett Libby, Vinalhaven, County Treasurer; Alfred C. Hocking, St. George, County Commissioner; Cleveland L. Sleeper, Jr., Rockland, State Senate; Ralph Winchenpaw, Friendship, Legislature; Leroy Ames, Vinalhaven, Legislature; Raymond Ludwig, Hope, Legislature; Curtis M. Payson, Union, Legislature; Stuart C. Burgess, Rockland, Legislature; Fredrick H. Bird, Rockland, Legislature.

Mayor Nelson of Augusta stated that the ordinary peoples of the country are seeking a security which will make the world safe from the threat of war. He stressed the establishment of an economic program in which the dollar earned today would have the same purchasing power 10 years from now.

Gubernatorial candidate Frederick G. Payne recalled Rockland in the years of the middle Thirties when he came here to help with the locating of the Van Baalen-Hellbrun Company, and the reorganization of Snow Shipyards. He said Rockland's progress in the 10 years past to community spirit and co-operation which has brought it to the position of one of the leading fishing ports of New England.

Payne was introduced as a businessman who has served Augusta as its Mayor; the State as Commissioner and the nation in the armed forces.

Representative Margaret Chase Smith was called from the hall on telephone calls relative to national business and was a trifle late in making her appearance to speak. She explained that one call was on the rumored closing of operations at the Limestone airbase, which she said would not come to pass.

Mrs. Smith congratulated the people of Rockland on the progress made toward industrial recovery and lauded the food production record made by the fish plant workers during the war, and since.

"It's a labor record such as you have achieved that leads to high production which leads to lowering of living costs," Mrs. Smith said.

She defended the 80th Congress and its work, citing tax reductions which relieved thousands of tax burdens, and the Taft-Hartley law. She stated that she voted for emergency housing for veterans in the special session of Congress but stated that the much needed slum clearance program had been neglected for 14 years. She also said that she voted against the resumption of price controls, as asked by the President.

The Marshall Plan, which she stated she voted for, needs intelligent administration which will lead to the eventual putting on their feet of the people of Europe and the relieving of the people of the United States of the burden, she declared.

The costs of maintaining a national security must be continued as long as the Russian situation and the resultant fear exists, she explained.

The group will continue throughout the State until close to election time.

Prior to the evening meeting, State Chairman and Mrs. Alan L. Bird were hosts to the members of the official party and press at a lobster supper in the Thorndike Hotel. The occasion formed a most pleasing interlude in the strenuous Republican tour, and the guests were very grateful for the gracious hospitality shown by Mr. and Mrs. Bird.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

Arch Soutar of the Lewiston Journal tells us that television, has reached Auburn, and that Franklin Goss, whose set has recorded it, is the hero of the neighborhood. Must be a relief for the residents to find something recorded besides the Androsoggin River stench.

Mocking birds are said to be making their appearance in New England, although why they should have waited that long to invade God's country is beyond my guess. Wonder if we will like them as well as we do the song.

"So you are Mrs. So-and-So," said she. "Why, I would never have known you. You used to be real pretty."

"It's nothing uncommon for boys to rob cherry trees," writes the Black Cat in The Courier-Gazette, "but a South End woman was very indignant when she found that one of the young rascals had sawed off seven limbs bearing the fruit." These brigands become more and more daring. It's nothing unusual at all, here in Lewiston, to have an entire family appear with carts and wheel barrows on your premises to strip and cart away the fruits of your cherished trees. And how resentful they are if you remonstrate that perhaps "this is private property," and you have use for your own produce. We know of several families who have had fine bearing fruit trees cut down because they just couldn't stand the humiliation of contesting with these vandals to say nothing of the damage wrought to adjacent lawns and gardens.—Lewiston Journal "State Chat."

Eastman Smith takes the Lincoln County News to task for some inaccuracies which appeared in that paper. He says:

"To give credit where credit is due: I am not a landscape architect, and do not teach at Stephens College, and am not precisely a Summer resident. Mrs. Eastman Smith is a landscape architect, and she teaches at both Stephens College and the University of Missouri, and has given some of her services free, here. Mrs. Smith, who have shovelled snow here in Bristol, have voted in Bristol, and have been called elsewhere due to the war and post-war. Our ancestors were here, beginning in the 17th century. A. D. We think Lincoln County is a very fine place."

The recent marriage of John W. Lane and Mrs. Maude C. Shier was marked by incidents of an unusual nature. The bridegroom was an ex-alderman, the bride was the widow of an ex-policeman, the best man was an ex-mayor and the marriage was performed by an ex-city clerk, E. Robert Keene. The attending couple were Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Richardson. The combined ages of the five members of the wedding party was 367 years.

STRUCK BY A CAR

Mrs. Marian Richan of Elm street was struck by a car operated by Lloyd Richards of Thomaston on Main street opposite The Courier-Gazette office this morning. Stepping into the street, according to witnesses, she was struck by the slowly moving car and knocked to the pavement. Only the quick action of Richards in stopping his car prevented her being run over. She was taken to her home. Although severely shaken up, she sustained no apparent serious injuries.

The trawler Eagle, laid up the past six weeks for installation of a new engine at General Seafoods Shipyard, sailed Thursday for the fishing grounds.

LOVE BRIGHTENS THE WAY

Love is the star that brightens the way
For man to follow, day by day
Love leads them over the stony road
And lighter makes his heavy load
Love is the perfume that scents the soul
And guides man to a noble goal
Love is a flower that cheers the way
And helps a man life's toll to pay
Love burns so deep in the heart a pain
When right is thwarted for a gain;
Love gladly suffers and will endure
To urge the world grow much more pure.

Love drives the dragon of greed away,
And words of kindness has to say;
Love's heart is filled with a tenderness
That sheds its tears o'er man's distress
Love is an anchor that holds so tight
One who is cruising for the right;
Love is the light showing plain the way
For man to go when skies are grey.

[EDITORIAL]

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

For President—Thomas E. Dewey of New York
For Vice President—Earl Warren of California

A STRONG TRIO

Although election interest has by no means reached a fever pitch the visit of the Republican caravan to Knox County Tuesday was not without its fruits. In the community visited many residents viewed with approval the three candidates named in the June Primaries, and at the mass meeting in the Court House Tuesday night their appearance and remarks fully justified the June verdict of the voters.

Mayor Charles P. Nelson of Augusta, who seeks the Congressional seat soon to be vacated by Margaret Chase Smith, was making his first public appearance in Rockland and won the instant approval of his listeners. Frederick G. Payne, nominee for Governor, is no stranger in Rockland, where he is extremely popular. The earnestness and straightforwardness of his remarks won a fervent "amen". The ovation given Mrs. Smith showed her fine standing with a Knox County audience. Since the beginning of her public career, back in 1935, she has received an overwhelming vote in all of the elections where her name has been on the ticket—a vote of full confidence in her efforts and accomplishments. There is no doubt how these three candidates will stand when the vote cast in the September election is counted.

GILDING THE LILY

The announcement that the Lincolnville Improvement Association is planning to beautify the waterfront of Lincolnville Beach occasions no surprise, because the citizens and non-residents have long realized what a wonderful asset the beach is to that community; both to the countless bathers who frequent it, and the thousands of visitors who motor thither in the run of the season to view the activities, and to gaze upon the placid scene which presents itself shoreward to Dark Harbor.

YOUTH AGAIN SERVED

The nomination of Donald W. Webber of Auburn, to be a member of the Maine Superior Court, offers no surprise, for Androskoggin's claims were recognized together with the calibre of the appointee. Again Gov. Hildreth has seen fit to appoint the younger element of the Bar, and those who know the youthful Androskoggin attorney know that he will live up to the fine reputation which the Maine Superior Court has established for itself.

CUSHING

Mr. and Mrs. William Mungall and son Gordon have returned to their home in Buffalo, after spending their vacation in town.

Mrs. Helen Cushman, who has spent several days with Mina A. Woodcock has gone to Friendship.

Mrs. Jessie Woodcock of Harrison has been the guest of her brother, Fred L. Killen.

Callers at Mina A. Woodcock's Tuesday were Mrs. Irene Moran of Rockland; Mrs. Zelma Dwinall of Camden; Mrs. Frank McCullagh of Roxbury, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Morse of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crute of Portland have been in town, guests of Miss Fannie Crute.

The many friends of Mrs. Carrie A. Geyer will be pleased to know she has returned from Knox Hospital in Rockland, somewhat improved.

The Waldoboro Townies clinched the Knox Twilight League pennant at Waldoboro Tuesday night romping over the Pirates 10-1 in eight innings.

While Waldoboro was piling up a lead "Don" Bowman was on his way to a no-hitter for six innings; but it was shattered in the seventh when "Bud" Chisholm smashed a line drive triple down the right field line to score French who had walked. The only other hit came in the eighth when Kelsey pinch-hit for Todd and got an infield single.

The Waldoboro offense was led by "Vic" Burnheimer who drove in six runs, collected three for four, one a homer, and scored two runs. The Townies took a two run lead in the first. Sprague forced Nevins at second, Bowman walked and Burnheimer doubled knocking in two tallies.

In the third Nevins singled. Sprague was out crossing the plate on a bunt and Bowman walked. With the same setup as in the first Burnheimer laced one off the infield plateau into the center field gully for a homer scoring the next three runs.

After that blow and until the seventh, "Al" Barlow held the Townies down, but they blew off the lid in the seventh with four singles and a triple, aided by an error.

When that outburst was over five more runs were across and the game and the pennant were on ice.

Defended Congress

Mrs. Smith Gives Impartial Review Of What Happened

Defense of the much criticized Congress, by Representative Margaret Chase Smith featured the Republican rally in this city Tuesday night. She said, in part: "While I had hoped such legislation as Federal Aid to Education, Amendments to the Social Security Act, and others would receive attention, I was doubtful after I learned that the call came from a National Political Convention. This gave it a political aspect and discouraged constructive action. The $65,000,000 loan to the United Nations to finance construction of a permanent headquarters in New York was approved, after a long delay. This was very much desired so is one step in favor of the Special Session.

"There has been a great deal of misunderstanding and confusion about the housing program. There is a distinction between a slum-clearance program and the much needed housing for veterans families and young folks starting out. It is true that there is a great need for a slum-clearance program but having been with us for years, it is not an emergency in comparison to the returned veterans' needs. The two proposals can very well be separated and that is what the Special Session has done by approving provisions for a low-cost housing and large rental projects. Actually, the real need is for low-cost rental housing and out of this program, it is hoped something may develop, perhaps not all that is desired, but a step forward.

"Then, too it must be remembered that much of the President's proposed program included legislation that had been neglected for many years, legislation such as major social improvements. In fact, there was sufficient to occupy the time of Congress for at least a full, regular term. At any rate, whether the special session acted creditably or not is a matter of opinion. The two major issues were housing and inflation. While the special session legislated in both fields, it was not in the manner called for by the President. Congress and the President do not see alike on solutions for those problems.

"The Draft Act passed by the Eightieth Congress is already in operation. Registrations will start at the end of this month. However, inductions will not begin until November and these will be called by age group. Eighteen-year-olds are permitted voluntary enlistment for one year with a limit of 161,000 set up for all the services. The 19 to 26 year old boys will serve 21 months, with the requirement that, upon expiration of service, they will serve in one of the Reserve components for a period of five years thereafter. This provision will greatly strengthen our Reserve organizations for any possible emergency.

"Deferment and exemption has been provided under the law for veterans with 12 months of service, members of organized reserve units such as the Army Reserve, Naval Reserve, Marine Corps and the Coast Guard Reserves, as well as members of the National Guard and Air National Guard, those in Reserve Officer Training Corps programs under certain conditions, ministers and ministerial students. Students who are eligible for the draft but who are enrolled will be deferred until the end of the academic year so that there will be no unfinished terms. Excluded from the draft only are surviving sons of families in which other sons and daughters were killed in action which is as it should be. Like the 1940 Draft law, the present law also provides for the seizure of plants by the government when necessary. No such seizure took place under the previous law."

THE FARNSWORTH GENEALOGY

Family Tree Links Ancestors In Knox and Lincoln Counties

(By Ralph Lowell)

This article concerns Matthias Farnsworth and his descendants. He was an immigrant to America in the seventeenth century.

There are two other Farnsworths who also came to this country in the same century, supposedly brothers of Matthias, by name, Joseph and Thomas Farnsworth. Joseph Farnsworth settled in Dorchester, Mass., in 1632 and is the first person of his name known in this country. Possibly, he came over with the Dorchester Company, however, not in the first vessel. "He was admitted freeman March 14, 1648. He died Jan. 12, 1660." (2)

"Thomas Farnsworth arrived about 1681, a Quaker who was connected with the adventure of William Penn in some way. He settled in New Jersey on a large tract of land and spent the remainder of his life there, raising a large family." (2)

The records of the first years in this country of these three Farnsworths are brief and incomplete. Matthias' history really begins when the town of Groton held its initial town meetings about 1664.

Matthias Farnsworth

1612-Jan. 21, 1688-9
Matthias was born in 1612 according to his will and died Jan. 21, 1688-9. He was born, probably, in or near Farnsworth, Lancashire, England and married, probably as his second wife, Mary, daughter of George Farr of Lynn, Mass. He was a weaver by occupation and was made freeman in May 16, 1670. The great probabilities are that his first three children were by his first wife, as his second wife, Mary, in her will, makes her first bequest to "my well beloved son Benjamin," who was probably her first born living son at that time.

In the Farnsworth Memorial, a book, the unsettled state of the Church in England is mentioned. "In the year of 1664, soon after the restoration of Charles II, and when men's minds were very unsettled as to what constituted the church; who should be entitled to admission into it, and what should be its government, Matthias Farnsworth and his associates were just building their long houses and clearing away the forest to raise grain for feeding their families. The Indians were prowling like wolves around their settlement and the Farnsworths were troubled with the same fear of insecurity that had long troubled them in their old homes. We find his neighbors and the Council both looking to Matthias and his ten associates as proper persons to settle these matters for them." (1)

"The land granted to the proprietors of the town of Groton was shared among them in proportion to the amount contributed by each to the common fund. The largest amount allowed to be assigned to one party was a 'twenty acre' right; though any proprietor was allowed to increase his proportion by purchase from others. A sale of these rights was held valid when approved by the body of the proprietors.

Some of the proprietors, using their privilege, increased their rights beyond the 'twenty acre' proportion by purchase from others. Matthias was an original subscriber for a 'twenty acre' right as allowed by the organization, and his several proportions were assigned him, or to his successors to the right, from time to time as divisions were made.

On Matthias Farnsworth's land in Groton where he made his clearing and built his house, he saw the Indians in 1676 burn most of the town and he escaped from there with his family to Concord, returning two years later, in 1678, where he again began his venture in the wilderness to remain until his death in January 21, 1688-9.

Matthias' home life in that log house was far from the seacoast and from the markets. All the clothing and the food for the family was the product of the land they had cleared and of their continued labor. All the cloth they wore was spun, woven and made up by the women, and the sheep that furnished the wool and the flax that was made into linen, came from the farm. He and his wife, Mary, amid so much toil, indoors and out, brought up to maturity, to be married, a family of nine children, losing so far as is known, only two.

Matthias was not a learned man, none of the pioneers of Groton were, but he had the education of the average, middle-class person of the times.

Benjamin Farnsworth (Matthias' Son)

1667-1733
Mar. Mary Prescott 1695, dau. Jonas and Mary Prescott, b. 2-3-1674 in Lancaster, Mass., died 11-28-1735. (1)

Mary Prescott's parents represented one of the wealthiest and most influential families in the region. Her father started as a blacksmith, but what his final career was, is not mentioned.

"Benjamin F. is probably the 'Benjamin,' (surname blank) numbered 43 in the list of settlers who had returned from Concord to Groton after the town was burned by the Indians in 1676, as the list appears in Green's 'Early Records of Groton.' (2)

"Benjamin Farnsworth held several town offices and was selectman, but he appears to have been less a leader and advisor of men than his brother John. He and his wife were church members, and their children were all baptized. Sometime in the latter part of his life, his health and with it his mind, were impaired and his wife was appointed guardian for the necessary care of his estate." (1)

Isaac Farnsworth (Benjamin's Son)

July 14, 1701-Dec. 17, 1744
Isaac, son of Benjamin, was born in Groton as were all of Benjamin's children, representing the third generation. He married Sarah Page, daughter of Samuel Page of South Carolina in April 1723 and made his home in Lunenburg, Mass., where he held various offices of trust, also was Town Clerk ten years.

William Farnsworth (Isaac's son)

Feb. 26, 1725-Jan. 22, 1806
Son of Isaac, Jr., born in Lunenburg, Mass., (represents the fourth generation). He married Elizabeth Rutherford, daughter of Rev. Robert, a Scotch-Irish, clergyman of the Presbyterian denomination of Waldoboro, Maine. The Reverend came here under the patronage of the Colonial Governor, as a missionary among the new settlers. William came to Waldoboro in 1760, then called "Waldo Purchase." He became owner of a large tract of land and one of the leaders in the new settlement. During the Revolutionary War he attained the rank of Colonel. Two of his sons, William, Jr., and Robert, though quite young, also served in that war. He died on Jan. 22, 1806 and was buried in the old Waldoboro graveyard.

William II (William's Son) 1753-1837
He was a soldier in the Revolution; married Mrs. Abigail Stuart, a widow and had a family of four children. Mrs. Stuart Farnsworth was born in 10-14-1749 and died 9-4-1846. (The notes on this generation have been inserted by the library at Augusta, presumably by typewritten pages on page 234 of the "Farnsworth Memorial.")

William Farnsworth (Son of William II)

1790-1826
Married Mary Spaulding and apparently they had three children. One of whom was William Alden Farnsworth, born in 1815. Rockland, Maine, who married Mary Sprague of Waldoboro.

William Alden Farnsworth (Son of the above William)

1815-1876
(Married Mary Sprague, died 1910)
They had six children named in order of their arrival: Josephine, 1837-1907; Lucy, 1839-1935; James, 1841-?; William S., 1849-Oct. 23, 1856; Fanny, 1853-1877; Joseph P., Dec. 1857-Jan. 25, 1856.

Lucy's brother James was a merchant of wealth and he began the limekilns at the northern end of Rockland harbor.

Summary and Additional Facts

"On Oct. 23, 1889 another Museum of Art was dedicated, having been erected as the art school at Wellesley College. Many admirable works of art, provided by the funds given by Isaac Danforth Farnsworth, a distant cousin, and by others stimulated by his example, were then shown. In Mr. Farnsworth's will he left $100,000 to build and maintain an art school in the Wellesley College, that is known as the 'Farnsworth Art School' within the college."

Isaac D. Farnsworth, grandson of Simeon, born April 22, 1810 at Washington, N. H. A successful merchant acquiring a fortune which he used in a very liberal but not ostentatious manner, was never married, and at his death he gave large sums for useful charities." (2)

There is no mention of active cultural interests among the Farnsworths who left large portions of their fortunes for these two known "Art Museums." Some of Matthias' descendants did indulge in much study of the classics with the result of becoming lawyers and one did actually write prose that was published, albeit anonymously.

The occupation and careers followed by the Farnsworths who are scattered throughout the States are many and varied. Matthias was a farmer as were many of those beginning their lives in this new country, but his occupations also could be described as lumberman, carpenter, architect, and manufacturer. His family must have been weavers and ceramists in addition to all their other domestic tasks.

Following the pioneers we first come upon the army and navy men, some of whom married daughters of clergymen thus introducing the ministry which may have influenced the Farnsworths in their political and cultural pursuits, thus resulting in such professions as Law, Education and Journalism. One rising to become Attorney General of the State, another a Congressman, still another a Chancellor. One small branch of the family joined the Mormons, settling in Utah only to be attacked by one member of another branch who had joined forces for the purpose of eliminating the sect. This last is the only information concerning violent conflict anywhere along the lines, excluding the Revolutionary War and Civil War, in which many members, fathers and sons, participated. Some became generals and admirals.

SUPPLEMENT I

Mary (Farnsworth) Thatcher

Oct. 11, 1660

"The second daughter and sixth child of Matthias was born at Lynn, Oct. 11, 1660. She married Samuel Thatcher of Watertown, April 11, 1676. He was the son of Samuel and Hannah Thatcher, immigrants from England who had settled in Watertown. Some of Mary Thatcher's descendants have been eminent both in church and state.

Her grandson, Samuel Thatcher of Watertown was a colonel, representative in Legislature, Selectman and treasurer of the town, and one of the most prominent and active men in it during the Revolutionary War. He was father of Ebenezer (H. U. 1789), who married Lucy, daughter of General Henry Knox, a prominent lawyer of Thomaston, Maine and father of the late Rear Admiral Henry Knox Thatcher." (2)

Henry Knox Thatcher was born at Montpelier, seat of his grandfather, Major General Henry Knox of Revolutionary fame and first Secretary of War under Washington, in Thomaston, Maine May 26, 1806, a few months before the death of his grandfather, which occurred Oct. 25, 1806.

Henry K. Thatcher died April 5, 1880. He had been attached to the Navy fifty-seven years; twenty-one years and eight months of this time had been spent at sea. A brave or a better sailor never lived, and it is enough to say of him that he maintained in his person the standard of manliness set by his grandfather, General Knox.

Educational Club

There is a 10-minute Quaker Prayer period each day but this is entirely optional and never compulsory. Irmgarde Lehmann from the University of Berlin talked to the group and told them of the life in Berlin during the bombing and occupation later by the four powers.

It was a unique experience to hear this slip of a girl, erstwhile member of the Hitler Youth, tell her story. She described the confidence the German people placed in Hitler at the end of 1933, for after years of want he had organized the nation into a system of work and plenty; he constantly assured them he was opposed to war and they firmly believed him.

Then came the war and again he produced propaganda which made it appear that the German people were oppressed and must defend their homes and their families. By 1942-3 the people knew they had been duped; but what could they do about it? They were in a leaky boat with the armies of the world massed against them. Their only course was to bail and try desperately to reach the shore.

At the end of the war she told of the horrors of the besieged Berlin as the S. S. Troopers shot down their comrades. The occupation came, and Berlin was divided into four sectors, Russian, British, French and American. Periodically a "Big Four" was held, at which time the mistakes of all four were discussed and corrected.

She said they had heard rumors of the mass killing of the Jews and the cruelty of the concentration camps, but the average citizen could not credit such atrocities until after the Nuremberg trials did they actually know of these.

The German economy is stymied under the present regime; factories that are operable are immediately dismantled and sent to Russia or France for reparations. The apathy, hopelessness of the people is appalling; yet they feel that this is a part of their punishment for two world conflicts. One could hardly repress a feeling of intense pity as this fair-haired girl told her story with an almost stoical manner far more eloquent than dramatics.

The Russian occupation is worse even than the Nazi regime; Germany has learned its lesson and has had enough of totalitarian government and would welcome a Democratic plan. The speaker told of fellow students who were taken from the theatre in evening gowns and vanished completely from the University. In reply to the complaints entered at headquarters they were told it was none of their business. As I listened to her I felt the bitterness melt out of my heart, for the sacrifice of that little red-headed lad that used to play in my yard, but now lies in a cemetery near the "Bulge."

Rose P. Danforth, publicity director of the Great Northern Paper Co., spoke on the Barlow and Tabb Bills and expressed the wish that this bill which she termed superfluous and unconstitutional was taken care of by the Taft-Hartley Bill. In Maine there was no need of such legislation as the relationship between Management and Labor was ideal, not a strike in 27 years. Later at the business meeting, Mrs. Bradstreet called the members' attention to the purpose of the club's organization to be well informed upon all issues before voting on same and advised a careful study of this bill before Sept. 13.

Dr. and Mrs. Marshall greeted old friends and members. Mrs. Marshall has written a new book, "Ruth" which will be released in the early Fall.

Prof. R. Stanley Thompson, historian at Russell Sage College, spoke on "World Government" and it is seldom that the club has the privilege of hearing such a fine address. He stressed the value of the alliances of Western Europe, and its part in the economy of each nation; trade barriers being lifted without disrupting any of the sovereign rights of these nations, an ideal which he termed the beginning of the end of conflict."

A new era has come and the Atomic Age is here with new hope and promise. Those who study history have a broadened perspective, a "hind-sight," we might say. Stretching out before him are centuries of living for his profit. Their mistakes he can correct; their merit he may profit by. Consequently, he is able to mould his theory upon a factual basis. We find it difficult to analyze new events; something old is ending. The end of World War I saw the end of colonial expansion, the empire of Imperialism.

He called Winston Churchill the greatest statesman of all times. The conferences at Bogota and The Hague marked the beginning of a new theme in world history and a step forward in the recovery program. In conclusion he quoted Churchill, "If we all pull together and firmly grasp the helm of government, all humanity will experience an emancipation." E. B. G.

A recent medical report shows that 75 percent of the Polish children drink vodka.

Babe Dahlgren, who saw much service at first for major league clubs, is doing well at that position for Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League.

The first grapevines in Europe were planted on the Rhine River by the German King Ludwig in 842 A. D.

A Trip To Texas

Described With Interesting Touch By Knox County Missionary

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— I have had a very gracious trip. We left Chicago on the Milwaukee Railroad and went across the State of Wisconsin to LaCrosse. Then we boarded a bus and crossed the Mississippi River into Minnesota and journeyed south to Canton, Minn. The Mississippi is beautiful in Minnesota, and much more attractive than it is in the South, when it becomes so muddy and dirty. The contour of the land reminds a person of Northern Aroostook in the Aroostook River Valley.

At Canton we changed buses for Iowa. The "tall corn State" is very interesting and the fertility of the land is amazing.

The people in the home where I stayed had planted an immense garden and didn't use a bit of fertilizer. I wondered how much they would harvest, but the peas, etc., certainly produced.

We had a grand series of meetings and many souls yielded their lives to Christ. The young married couples who came to Christ were a great inspiration.

The corn was about 14 feet tall when I left and still growing taller. We left Iowa and journeyed south to Texas. In the Kansas City area the storms of the previous days had ruined the peach trees. It must have been hard on the farmer.

The wheat fields of Kansas amazed me, miles and miles of plain land, so level. The farmers couldn't spend much time being neighborly and they must have journeyed far to their shopping centers. As we came down through Kansas into Oklahoma, the contour of the land gradually changed and we had a little more rolling country. Wichita, Kansas and Enid, Oklahoma were very attractive cities.

We crossed into Texas and miles upon miles of farm land with a small shopping center now and then.

Fort Worth is a growing city. It has some beautiful new buildings and the residential section is rapidly growing with very attractive homes.

We have had a very enjoyable Young People's Institute. Last week we had a beautiful baptism. Last night three young men dedicated their lives to the Christian ministry. It was a very inspiring service.

I will be leaving for home in a short time and expect to go through some new States.

It has been very hot here. One hundred degree temperature day in and day out although the last few days has been more comfortable. Rev. John Taylor Holman.

A Highly Satisfactory Showing

The Maine Coast Craftsmen completed a highly satisfactory weeks showing of their work Sunday night at Hordding Carter's barn in Rockport. Attendance, afternoon and evening, was heavy throughout the week. A great number of craft pieces manufactured in this area were sold during the show and many orders placed for future delivery.

Craftsmen of the Knox County area displayed their handiwork in an excellent setting. Special features were shown each day as one workman or another actually did their work for the visitors to witness. The show ranged from textiles, textile printing, jewelry, ship models, painting, wood engravings, ceramics, to wood carving of pot buoys and other marine articles of interest to the visitor.

Were Potato Balls

The Potato-Tomato Story Exposed By Tillers Of The Soil

Mrs. Daurice P. Seguin of 26 Concord avenue, Cambridge, Mass., writes:

"In The Black Cat column recently was this amusing story: 'Shades of Luther Burbank. A New York farmer planted potatoes this Spring in a garden where last year he grew tomatoes. Now he has a vine with five tomatoes above ground and several potatoes underground on the roots of the same vine. The texture of the tomatoes is normal, they say, but they don't smell like tomatoes. And the potatoes look like potatoes but nobody knows yet whether they taste like potatoes.'

"Lo and behold. The Boston Herald, Aug. 5, published a story about a Weymouth, Mass., couple who found tomatoes on their potato plants. Two readers of that paper immediately came up with the 'sixty-four dollar answer,' which the editor published on Aug. 7. Since a similar story appeared in 'The Black Cat' perhaps the enclosed clipping might be of interest to you."

The Clipping

Editor of The Herald:
I think you will find a very outstanding error on the front page of your Aug. 5 Herald. John Nicholson is shown holding up "Potato-Tomato" plants. It is my belief that his "tomatoes" are merely "potato balls." According to authoritative old timers these balls if planted next season, will mature like seed potatoes do. This is just another one of nature's remarkable cycles, occurring once every 10 years, not a malfunction as your article points out.

These potato balls are much like the seeds that form on other plants. When planted instead of

'Tomatoes' Potato Balls

Editor of The Herald:
In the Aug. 5 Herald much prominence is given to an article about a Weymouth couple who found tomatoes growing on their potato plants. The radio also has featured it. I fear that there are going to be some red faces when it is found that the "tomatoes" are nothing but ordinary potato balls.

Twenty-three years of my life were spent in Aroostook County, Maine. And I have seen thousands of acres of potatoes with "tomatoes" on their vines. I don't blame anybody for being fooled as they look exactly like tomatoes. In fact I was fooled when I first saw them.

Some years the vines are loaded with them. And other years hardly any will be found.

Chester Johnston.

[The editor of The Black Cat

column reads the above clippings shamefacedly, because he was told that the "tomatoes" were really potato balls, immediately after the item appeared in this paper and forgot to mention it. Had I seen the "tomatoes" I should have known, because I have seen hundreds of them in my own garden.—Ed.]

Some of the best statistical brains, both in and out of the government, are at work trying to figure out what the national wealth amounts to today. Some "guesstimates" place the figure at between 600 and 700 billion dollars. The last prewar estimate was made in 1938, when the National Industrial Conference Board placed the total wealth of the nation at 300 billion dollars. But that estimate was based on dollars having much greater buying power than those that circulate in such vast numbers today.

The Presidential campaign in the United States is being closely watched by thousands in Argentina.

U.S.A.'s SYMBOL

Of Petroleum Quality — and Friendly Service!

IT ALL STARTED HERE!

17 years ago, the Flying Red Horse stood for "SOCONY"—Standard Oil Company of New York—and New York and New England were known as "SOCONYLAND".

Then SOCONY merged with VACUUM and the Flying Red Horse grew to span the nation.

TODAY

The Flying Red Horse is Famous from Coast-to-Coast!

Socony-Vacuum is an independent company not affiliated with any Standard Oil Company operating in the U.S.A., and is in direct and vigorous competition with them!

Seventeen years ago, we were the Standard Oil Company of New York (Socony) and the Vacuum Oil Company. The trade name "SOCONY" appeared on service stations, pumps, trucks, throughout New York and New England.

With the union in 1931 of SOCONY and VACUUM a far greater oil company emerged—united the famous products of both companies under the Flying Red Horse trade-mark—rapidly expanded from Coast-to-Coast.

Today, in order to eliminate any possible confusion in the public's mind with other users of the name "Standard", Socony-Vacuum has dropped the name from the few remaining products which have carried it.

The main point is this: Today the Flying Red Horse has outgrown its "Native Soconyland" and the name "Standard".

Today, our trade-mark stands for Socony-Vacuum—the Mobil line of Automotive Products, Mobilgas, Mobiloil, Mobilubes, Mobil Specialties, Mobil Tires, Mobil Batteries and Accessories—for Tavern Candles—for Mobilheat and Mobil-flame—for Process Products and the world-famous line of Gargoyles Industrial and Marine Lubricants!

The Flying Red Horse is your guarantee of a leading petroleum product from a leader in the progressive petroleum industry!
